B
1
.A11
v.26

ANALYSIS

Edited by Peter Winch

Volume 26
1965–1966

BASIL BLACKWELL · BROAD STREET · OXFORD

INDEX

| | | PAGE |
|---|---|---|
| Anscombe, G. E. M. | A note on Mr. Bennett | 208 |
| Anscombe, G. E. M. | Retractation | 33 |
| Bar-Hillel, Yehoshua | Et tu, Diodorus Cronus? | 54 |
| Bar-Hillel, Yehoshua | Imperative inference | 79 |
| Beard, Robert W. | Synonymy and oblique contexts | 1 |
| Bennett, Jonathan | 'Whatever the consequences' | 83 |
| Bogen, James | Identity and origin | 160 |
| Bonney, W. L. | Mr. Deutscher on saying and disbelieving | 17 |
| Cahn, Steven | An unanswered paradox | 203 |
| Cannavo, S. | The verifiability of universal empirical statements | 21 |
| Cargile, James | On having reasons | 189 |
| Chandler, Hugh S. | Essence and accident | 185 |
| Collins, Arthur W. | Dating abilities and truths | 51 |
| Cowan, J. C. | Publicity | 26 |
| Cummins, Phillip D. | Time for change | 41 |
| Cunningham, R. C. | Is it necessary or useful to randomize? | 103 |
| Dilman, Ilham | Professor Malcolm on dreams | 129 |
| Duncan-Jones, Austin | Good things and good thieves | 113 |
| Ezorsky, Gertrude | On verifying universal empirical statements | 110 |
| Gale, Richard M. | Falsifying retrodictions | 6 |
| Geach, P. T. | Comment on Mr. Grimm | 146 |
| Geach, P. T. | Dr. Kenny on practical inference | 76 |
| Gordon, Lorenne M. | The range of application of 'voluntary', 'not voluntary' and 'involuntary' | 149 |

| | | |
|---|---|---|
| imm, R. H. | Names and predicables | 138 |
| Harman, Gilbert | New implications of 'someone', I | 206 |
| Jennings, R. E. | 'Or' | 181 |
| Kenny, A. J. | Practical inference | 65 |
| Linsky, Leonard | Malcolm and the use of words | 59 |
| Lyons, Daniel | 'Entitled to complain' | 119 |
| Madell, Geoffrey | Hare's prescriptivism | 37 |
| Montague, Roger | 'Is' to 'ought' | 104 |
| Naylor, Andrew | On "remembering" an unreal past | 122 |
| Nell, Edward | 'No proposition can describe itself' | 147 |
| Nelson, John O. | A groat's worth more on Moore's assertion | 32 |
| New, C. G. | Some implications of 'someone' | 62 |
| Odegard, Douglas | Ayer versus non-starters | 172 |
| O'Shaughnessy, R. J. | Enjoying and suffering | 153 |
| Perkins, Moreland | Seeing and hearing emotions | 193 |
| Puccetti, R. I | Can humans think? | 198 |
| Robison, John | A note on 'Falsifying retrodictions' | 9 |
| Skillen, A. | The myth of temporal division | 44 |
| Sloman, Aaron | 'Necessary,' 'a priori' and 'analytic' | 12 |
| Smith, James M. | New implications of 'someone', II | 207 |
| Sommers, Fred | Why is there something and not nothing? | 177 |
| Swinburne, R. G. | Conditions for bitemporality | 47 |
| Swinburne, R. G. | Knowledge of past and future | 166 |
| Teichmann, Jenny | Incompatible predicates | 57 |
| Vesey, G. N. A. | Miss Anscombe on the intentionality of sensation | 135 |